Mystery Fire Causes Heavy Loss at Farm

Two Barns, Valuable Machinery and Hay Burn at Baisrow Place

Losses were estimated to be between $25,000 and $30,000 when fire destroyed two barns, a tool shed, valuable machinery and a large quantity of baled hay at the Harry Baisrow farm on the Wilmet road Monday evening.

The blaze is believed to have originated from one of two tractors kept in the machinery shed, although its exact cause is unknown.

So violently did it flare up that, although noticed at its very start by Baisrow, it could not be checked.

Wind Spread Flames

The machinery shed was attached to a barn, which also burned, and a strong wind from the west drove the flames toward a second barn, filled with baled hay, and set it afire.

All of these structures were a total loss, together with their contents. Besides the two tractors, a considerable quantity of other farm machinery, irreplaceable and almost priceless at the present time, was a complete loss.

The Antioch, Salem and Bristol fire departments succeeded in saving some smaller buildings adjoining the barns which burned, as well as the house and another barn. The location of the house, to the northwest of the barns which were destroyed, and of the other barn, to the southwest, was helpful in saving them, since they were out of the direct line of the wind and flames, L. R. Van Patten, Antioch fire chief said.

The Antioch fire department hauled up 3,500 gallons of water for use in helping to prevent the further spread of the fire.

Near Country Club

The tractor from which the fire started had not been used since Saturday. Both tractors had been placed in the shed at the close of work Saturday, and had not been operated over Sunday and the holiday, according to information given State Fire Marshal James Stearns of Antioch.

The Baisrow place is located just east of Our Country club at Liberty Corners. The club grounds occupy a corner bounded by the Baisrow properties, which cover several hundred acres.

Mrs. Marguerite Lange Dies at Elkhorn, Wis.

Daughter of Charles Andersons, Antioch, Passes Away Suddenly

Antioch friends were shocked to learn today of the sudden death of Mrs. Sylvester Lange, Elkhorn, Wis., formerly of Antioch, Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Lange before her marriage was Miss Marguerite Anderson, daughter of Charles Anderson, engineer at the Antioch grade school. Mrs. Anderson had been called to Elkhorn by word of Mrs. Lange's sudden illness and was at her bedside when she passed away.

Services will be held at Reed's Funeral home in Elkhorn, Friday, and interment will be at Elkhorn.

Mrs. Lange, who was 30 years of age, is survived by her husband and five children, Jennifer, Catherine, Donald, Eleanor and Shirley, Elkhorn; by her parents, and by four brothers, Arthur, Donald, Oliver and Charles, Jr., and a sister, Mary, all of Antioch.

Grade School Has Enrollment Gain; H. S. Total Drops

Antioch Grade school opened Wednesday with 205 pupils, an increase of 11 over last year's enrollment of 194.

Enrollment by grades, according to Principal Richard Whitacre, is as follows:

Kindergarten, 22; first grade, 27; second, 26; third, 33; fourth and fifth (combined), 38; sixth, 24; seventh, 22; eighth, 13.

Antioch Township High school, which also opened Wednesday, showed a decrease in enrollment, with 215 registered as compared with last year's 231. War industry and farm labor demands are believed to have been instrumental in holding down enrollment this year.

Jeanette Bullis has been added to the staff as mathematics and science teacher, Principal T. R. Birkhead announces. She previously taught in the Eau Claire, Wis., high school.

Rural schools in Lake county opened Sept. 8; Kenosha county schools began their year the afternoon of Sept. 7.

Antioch Bond Drive Being Opened Today

Intensive Canvass to Meet $140,200 Quota Is Begun by Workers

The splendid response which Antioch has always in the past given to all worthy projects is again expected to aid in meeting the $140,200 War Bond quota set for the township in the nation-wide drive which opened today, Atty. Edward C. Jacobs, campaign chairman, stated.

Jacobs, appointed at a committee meeting held August 16 with Township Chairman Otto S. Klass presiding, stated that campaign workers are planning house-to-house canvasses. The slogan, "Buy an Extra Bond!" has been adopted as the inspiration for the campaign.

Assistant Chairmen have been appointed for different sections of the township. All campaign workers and house-to-house canvassers will be residents of the section which they canvass and will have proper credentials. They will receive the pledges to buy bonds, and the actual purchase may be made at either of the two Antioch banks or at the post office, all of which are co-operating in the drive.

Districts 1, 2, 3—John Horan; 4, Dudley Kennedy; 5, Stephen Rysko; 6, Albert Girard; 7, Louis Pregoner; 8, Mrs. Emil J. Steiskal; 9, Barney Neveler; 10, Joseph Rhymer; 11, Walter K. Hills; 12, Henry Harvey; 13, Henry Rentner; 14, Clarence Crowley; 15, George White.

Persons who are now devoting 10 percent of their income to the purchase of bonds are being asked to make extra purchases at this time. Lake County's total quota has been set at $5,920,000.

Lake Villa township's quota is $113,400, and Grant township's is $34,000.

Chairmen of the sub-districts in the township include:

Federal Income Taxpayers Warned to File Returns Before Deadline Sept. 15

The honorable Carter H. Harrison, director of Internal Revenue for this District, today issued a last minute warning to Federal income taxpayers that if they fall within certain classes they are obligated to file with the Collector of Internal Revenue a Declaration of Estimated Income for the year and to make a payment on the outstanding amount on or before this coming Wednesday, September 15th.

It is estimated that about one-third of Federal income taxpayers are obligated to make this declaration. The purpose of the declaration is to get all people on the "pay-as-you-go" current tax payment basis.

Generally speaking, those who are obligated to file are single persons subject to withholding who earn over $2700; married people subject to withholding who earn over $3500; and people with estimated income sufficient to require the filing of an income tax return including over $100 from sources other than salary or wages subject to withholding.

People who are required to make a declaration but fail to do so will find 10 per cent added to their tax. The penalty for failing to pay on installment when due is an additional $2.50, or 2 1/2 per cent added to the tax, whichever is greater.

There is also a penalty for making a substantial underestimate of the amount of tax due. People other than farmers whose estimate is more than 20 per cent off will have to pay a penalty of 6 per cent on the amount underestimated. Farmers are given wider leeway, being allowed to be 33 1/2 per cent off before the same penalty is asserted, and not being required to file a declaration until December 15th.

Collector Harrison urges every income taxpayer to study carefully the instructions recently received from him, with a view to make certain whether or not he or she is obliged by the law to file this September 15 Declaration and make on income tax payment at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Bogarts, North Fox Lake Heights, has as guests during the week-end Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bogarts and son, Leopold III, Chicago.

Village Council Plans to Improve Hillside Avenue

Street Will Be Widened and Re-Graded from 173 to Harden

Improvement and widening of Hillside avenue from Route 173 to Harden street was approved at a meeting of the Antioch village council Tuesday evening.

The plans discussed by the board included cutting away the bank on the west side of the street, regrading the surface, which has been oiled, and building it up, preparatory to covering it eventually with "black top."

Since this is an arterial highway, it is planned that, subject to approval from the highway commission at Elgin, state funds allotted to Antioch as the village's proportionate share of gas tax money may be applied toward this purpose.

A total sum of $4,500 has been accumulated by the village from these funds over a period of years, Village President George B. Bartlett states.

Plan Further Improvement

The board hopes later to improve Hillside avenue as far as Highway 59. According to information received by Bartlett, residents along this further stretch of land have announced their willingness to cede the necessary area, strips possibly 20 feet deep along the west side of the street, to the village.

Proceedings which will give the village full possession of a 37-acre tract from the Thorne estate, along the Sea Line right-of-way, were to come before the Probate court today.

This tract, adjoining land owned by Antioch Township High school and extending northward, was purchased by the village for a park and playground area. All preliminary details for the transfer have been satisfactorily completed, Bartlett stated this morning.

Future Farmers Receive Citation From State Dept.

The Antioch Chapter of the Future Farmers of America (F. F. A.), of the Antioch High school has received an award citing the organization as having over 90 per cent of its members engaged in increasing farm commodity production.

The award was received from the division of Vocational Agriculture of the Illinois State Department of Education at Springfield.

According to C. L. Kutil, chapter adviser and vocational agriculture instructor, the members engaged in the production of such farm products as beef, pork, poultry, eggs, milk, corn, grain, potatoes, mutton, wool, vegetables, and fruits. Several hired out to work on farms away from home.

"All Future Farmers are to be commended for the splendid work they have done this summer during the present national emergency," says Kutil.

Imagination and Caution

Out of the maze of postwar plans that have been given wide publicity during the past year have come many impractical as well as many practical suggestions. Viewed from the standpoint of a business man who knows what it takes to develop and produce new products, many of these are stimulating and some have a reverse effect.

Commenting on the postwar situation, Wilfred Sykes, President of the Inland Steel Co., says:

"Men of imagination have turned to postwar planning in groups that now number about 200. They stimulate me. And they sometimes make me mad."

"They stimulate me because they also see what can be done eventually with the new postwar products. And they make me mad because they don't seem to realize that it can't all be done right away—immediately—as soon as the Japs are licked—if not sooner."

"I can't go along with them because the men I represent are not planning for someone else. What distinguishes their planning from all others is that they are the men who must make some plan work."

"If the men who launch the goods are wrong, they go broke. And then everybody is out of a job. They have a responsibility for the successful application of men, materials, and money."

Mr. Sykes goes on to say that while experimentation and research never cease, and that while industry will place new products on the market the minute they are practicable, it is nevertheless true that when the war ends and people will need to replace their worn-out radios, refrigerators, and washing machines, they will be able to get the 1942 models with improvements.

Industry and Education

Almost daily comes the news of the far-reaching effect that American industry has on other phases of national life.

Typical is the news that some seventy faculty members of midwestern high schools have begun an eight-week training course at the Apprentice Training School of a large Detroit war plant. All of these educators are working for Master's or Doctor's degrees at nearby universities, and they will receive full college credit for their work at the training school.

3rd War Loan
BUY AN EXTRA $100 BOND

Their course at the plant will include forty hours a week of actual machine shop work, and daily conferences on various phases of industrial management and operation, including problems of personnel, social service, employment, labor relations, and others.

These educators are the ones who will train the nation's youth, a far larger percentage of whom are going into industrial work than ever before. It is an excellent idea that these so-called dwellers of the "Ivory tower" meet with industry, and understand its problems so that industry's future recruits may be better prepared for their work.

Postwar Buying Backlog

A sign of the times is the new, unadvertised shortage which the U. S. public will soon find in safety deposit boxes. White-collar workers and wage earners clutching War Bonds in their hands have swarmed into banks and trust companies in recent months and rented safety deposit boxes for the first time in their lives.

Safety deposit box occupancy is at an all-time high; rentals since January 1, are up 31 per cent over the same period a year ago. Yet there is no tendency to hoard currency. The total of money in circulation is rising steadily.

This is most significant. People's valuables today consist largely of war bonds and other long range savings. That means, in terms of post war planning, an accumulated buying power to back up the great demand which will exist when the war ends. It means that people will be able to pay for the things industry will produce. It means greater employment if industry, unhampered by unnecessary governmental restrictions, is given a chance to satisfy the demand.

Temporary Expediency

Rumblings of discontent from the Deep South and border states, traditionally Democratic, have caused the President to shelve some of his most loyal New Deal aides.

When arch New Dealer Henry Wallace locked horns with Texas' conservative Jesse Jones, it was Henry who was taken to the woodshed. When ambitious Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, of Groton and Harvard, tried to muscle in on the job of Jeffersonian Democrat Cordell Hull, of Tennessee, the Alma Mater and "old school tie" business was forgotten by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Welles was asked to resign.

Let no one be deceived that the President has dis-eased the New Deal or his New Dealers. Such actions on his part were politically expedient at a time when the solid South, fed up with the Washington hitch-hikers on the Democratic donkey, threatens Mr. Roosevelt's re-nomination and re-election.

Again it becomes clear that Fourth Term strategy is occupying much of the time of official Washington.

Home Front Volunteers Start Today To Put Over Third War Loan Campaign For World's Greatest Financing Drive

With the Slogan "Back the Attack—With War Bonds,"
Every American Citizen Is Asked to Buy at Least
One Additional $100 Bond in September

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 9.—America's Third Army marched forth today to capture the most important immediate objective on the home front.

As 2,000,000 volunteers swung into line to put over the Third War Loan campaign, they were met with helping hands from millions of workers in the home front production battle, and cheers of encouragement from men on the fighting fronts—in whom the success of the Third War Loan is literally a matter of life and death.

To "Back the attack—with War Bonds"—every American who can do so will be asked to buy at least an extra $100 War Bond. The quota for those who are able to invest more from income or accumulated funds will be much higher.

Speaking of the great drive to raise $15 billion—a major portion to come from individuals—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., said:

"The United Nations are on the march. The first rumblings of the big offensive are being heard in all the Axis nations. Thousands of our men have stormed Sicily. Tons upon tons of bombs are dropping on Germany. We are attacking Japan-held territory as never before. This is a great day for us. But it means that the time has come for us to really tighten our belts here on the home front. We have come to a most crucial period in the war, and the success that we will have on the fighting fronts, will depend to a considerable extent upon the degree to which we here at home are willing to work and sacrifice for ultimate victory."

The drive continuing throughout September, will offer to investors in addition to Series E, F and G United States Savings Bonds the following securities: Treasury Savings Notes, Series C; 2½ percent Treasury Bonds of 1964-69; 2 percent Treasury Bonds of 1951-53; 1½ percent Certificates of Indebtedness.

Battlefront of Sacrifice Is Urged Upon U. S. Women to Aid 3rd War Loan Drive

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The women of America are going all-out to make a success of the Third War Loan Drive—to "Back the Attack" to the limit. For weeks they have been organizing to do their share toward raising the Treasury's unprecedented goal of 15 billion dollars in War Bond sales to non-banking investors.

In order to lay the groundwork for this intensive organization far enough in advance of the drive, Miss Harriet Elliott, Associate Field Director of the War Finance Division, in charge of women's activities, made a swing around the country during July. Regional conferences were held in Atlanta, Dallas, San Francisco, Denver, Cleveland and Boston.

"Women have been called to the battlefronts of sacrifice at a time when their brains, energies and money are most needed," says Miss Elliott. "Buy Bonds—by sacrifice, is the order of the day. If every woman in America would pledge herself to do without everything she possibly can, and carry out that pledge faithfully, she would make a genuine contribution to victory."

All groups of women are active in the drive. Many cities and counties are conducting Door-knocker campaigns and carrying out other promote victory.

"It's going to be a costly victory. We have said that before, but we must repeat it again and again. The real war has only now begun. Billions of dollars more must be spent to keep the material of war going to our men at the front. Your Government must call upon you, the American people, for that money."

"Remember! It is up to all of us here at home to 'Back the Attack' and to do it more enthusiastically, more thoroughly and with greater sacrifice than any attack has ever been backed by any home front in all history. Everything is at stake. Everyone must help to the very limit of his ability."

The drive continuing throughout September, will offer to investors in addition to Series E, F and G United States Savings Bonds the following securities: Treasury Savings Notes, Series C; 2½ percent Treasury Bonds of 1964-69; 2 percent Treasury Bonds of 1951-53; 1½ percent Certificates of Indebtedness.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY School Lesson

ISRAEL MARCHES TOWARD CANAAN

LESSON TEXT—Numbers 10:11, 12, 29-36.
GOLDEN TEXT—Come thou with us, and we will do thee good.—Numbers 10:29.

There is a time to wait before God, to be instructed and prepared for holy living. There is also a time for action. When God says, "Move forward," His people are to arise and be on their way.

Israel, who had now been more than a year on the way from Egypt to Canaan, had been resting for a time at Mt. Sinai, there receiving instruction and being organized into a nation. They had set up a place of worship in their midst, and now they were ready to go on. That is God's will for His people. They are to

I. Move Toward the Goal (vv. 11, 12).

God had a schedule. He wanted them to move forward on a certain day (v. 11). Since the Jewish religious year, referred to here, began with the spring equinox, this was about the middle of May. The dry season was ahead—a good time to travel.

Those who think the purposes of God for men are nebulous and uncertain, and that He has no real plan for us, are obviously mistaken. His plan is good and acceptable and perfect; let us find and follow it.

We do not have a pillar of cloud and fire to move before us. We do not need it, for we, unlike the Israelites, have God's Word for our guide, and His Holy Spirit as the One who will tell every responsive soul when and where to go.

The important thing is to obey, promptly and willingly, and we shall have the blessing of God.

II. Bring Others With You (vv. 29-32).

Those who go up to the promised land should not go alone, they should bring others with them.

Moses, who had been in touch with the family of his father-in-law (known both as Jethro and Raguel or Reuel), now sees the value of having with him his brother-in-law, who was so acquainted with the great and terrible wilderness through which they were to pass that he could be invaluable as a guide and helper.

In giving him the invitation, however, Moses stressed the opposite thought—that it would be good for Hobab if he came with them. That was doubtless true, but it was not the right approach.

Men do not respond to the opportunity for advantage in spiritual things as readily as to the challenge to usefulness. The motive of acquisition is strong, but the best folk are not as interested in what they can get as what they can give.

The church may stress too much its value as a place of refuge and not enough the unparalleled opportunity it affords for sacrificial service.

When Moses changed his plea and revealed his need of Hobab, the response was immediate. He had thus won a friend and a helper.

III. Follow God's Guidance (vv. 33-36).

God gave special guidance on this occasion. The ark which commonly was found in the midst of the people, now moved out before them.

It was the symbol of God's presence. As they went out into the wilderness (which Deut. 1:19 calls "great and terrible") it was as though God Himself went before them.

Is not this always true? The "Captain of Our Salvation," Jesus Christ, is not One who carries in safety at the rear and sends up orders for us to attack life's problems. He goes before us!

The pillar of cloud hovered over the people as though to give them shelter from the beating sun of the desert. God is mindful of the road His people must travel, and in His loving-kindness provides for their protection and care.

In our day there are many who are tempted to question whether God knows of their trials and afflictions. He does, and He will not permit them to be tried beyond their ability to bear it.

When the ark went forward, their leader, Moses, addressed God in the stirring words of verse 35. The people whose God is the Lord may count on Him to scatter their enemies.

All of human life is either a journey or a battle, and often it is both. We must arise and make valiant war against the forces of evil if we are to move forward for God. But we must recall that our foes, as Christians, are also God's foes.

The battle is not ours, but God's, and we do well to call on Him to rise up and smite the enemy.

Note that after the forward march came a time of rest. God always gives His people an opportunity for needed rest.

Supplying FOOD FOR VICTORY on the Farms of Northern Illinois

Gordon Duncan of Wadsworth admires a prize ewe and healthy lamb from his father's pure bred Southdown flock. Mr. William Duncan, a veteran sheep breeder, gives his electric brooder a good deal of credit for helping his newborn lambs to survive the critical first weeks.

Every lamb is precious these days, so William Sprout gives his lambs the extra care of an electric brooder. Ordinary light bulbs provide the warmth and converted coffee cans serve as reflectors in this home-made brooder.

Another valuable form aid used by sheep raisers is the electric shearer. Here Joe Megiers of Gurnee demonstrates how his electric shearer gets every ounce of wool.

ELECTRIC BROODERS INCREASE WARTIME LAMB PRODUCTION

Fully aware of America's wartime food emergency, sheep raisers of Northern Illinois are striving to overshadow all previous records of lamb production in this area.

And to assist them in achieving this goal, hundreds of these farmers have bought or built electric brooders. For they know that these electric contrivances help to reduce the mortality of baby lambs... the electric brooders warm and dry the newborn lambs... safeguard them during the critical first weeks and thus help to increase the number that grow to maturity.

If you do not have an electric brooder and cannot buy one, why not make your own? We will gladly furnish a simple illustrated plan for building a brooder with materials which are available. Phone, write or visit your Public Service office for your free copy today.

Costs $24,834,674 Cash to Run Illinois in Aug.

Springfield, Sept. 3, 1943. Cash disbursements for Illinois state expenses in the month of August were $24,834,674.29 and required the writing of 244,644 warrants, final compilations in the office of Arthur C. Lueder, state Auditor of Public Accounts, showed. All expenditures for state purposes are made only by warrants drawn by the Auditor of Public Accounts.

Meeting the payrolls of the code departments, elective offices, state boards and commissions and payment for supplies, office expenses, travel, postage and similar items required 58,721 warrants. The total amount of these warrants, issued to cover the regular operating expenses of state government, was $19,318,149.14.

Gas tax refunds, to those who purchased gasoline for other than highway transportation purposes, amounted to $465,723.15 and required 14,000 warrants.

Mounting again this month, the old age assistance payments were $4,225,313.00 to 146,371 recipients. However, this is the tenth month since the old age assistance payments were inaugurated in March of 1936 that a decrease in the number of recipients has been recorded, although cash disbursements have increased.

Lueder said that 25,552 warrants amounting to $825,489.00 were issued to those receiving state assistance under the Aid to Dependent Children Act.

"Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 6.

The Golden Text was, "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace" (Psalms 37: 37).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars which thou has ordained; What is man, that thou art mindful of him? Thou makest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet" (Psalms 8: 3, 4, 6).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man is idea, the image of Love; he is not physique. He is the compound idea of God, including all right ideas; the generic term for all that reflects God's image and likeness; the conscious identity of being as found in Science, in which man is the reflection of God, or Mind, and therefore is eternal; that which has no separate mind from God; that which has not a single quality undervived from Deity; that which possesses no life, intelligence, nor creative power of his own, but reflects spiritually all that belongs to his Maker" (p. 475).

"LEST WE FORGET"

That there may be ample time for adequate preparation I am again reminding you of the community HARVEST-THANKSGIVING service at the Methodist Church in Antioch. As a material expression of thanks we are asking each one to bring an appropriate offering of vegetables and fruit, both fresh and canned, to be presented to Lake Bluff orphanage.

As a direct appeal I include herein parts of a letter from the orphanage: "Only by your sharing your canned fruit and vegetables will the children of the Methodist Deaconess orphanage have adequate diet during the winter months of 1943-44. The shelves of our storerooms are almost empty now. Rationing allows only a small portion of our needs for canned goods. Our budget does not permit much fresh or frozen fruits and vegetables. The only possibility of filling these shelves is in your hands and hearts."

U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps Registrations Being Made

Registrations for the U. S. Cadet Nurse corps are coming in fast according to June A. Ramsey, executive secretary of the Illinois State Nurse's association, information headquarters for the Cadet Nurse corps. Already twenty-one of the 97 approved nursing schools in the state have filled their fall classes. But Miss Ramsey adds, there are still openings in the majority of nursing schools for those who wish to enroll this fall. Miss Dorothy Nedbal of Antioch is among the young women from this area who have already registered for the cadet corps. She is in training at St. Therese hospital.

The U. S. Public Health Service has set a quota of 5082 student nurses to be recruited in Illinois during the fiscal year which began last July 1. This number is expected to be made up by the combined fall and spring registrations in the approved nursing schools of the state, most of which are cooperating with the government in the new U. S. Cadet Nurse corps program.

Cadet nurses receive their nursing education free at government expense. They also are provided with a smart new outdoor uniform, in both summer and winter models, designed by fashion experts. This uniform bears the insignia of the U. S. Public Health Service. In return for their three years of training and other benefits, the cadet nurse agrees to stay in essential nursing service for the duration of the war. Thus while performing an important war service, the cadet nurse prepares herself for a lifetime career.

Young women interested in joining the U. S. Cadet Nurse corps may obtain an up-to-date list of nursing schools in Illinois where vacancies still exist for fall classes, by calling in person at the Illinois State Nurses' association, 8 South Michigan avenue, Room 1014, Chicago, or by writing for this list. Each nursing school has its own opening date for fall classes and its own entrance requirements all of which information is available on the new list prepared for immediate distribution to those interested. Those who have already received the school information, are being advised to make a prompt application at the school of their choice because classes are filling up rapidly.

A hand-made quilt, which Mrs. William Walters of Little Silver lake made for one of the societies at St. Peter's church, has been on display in a window of the Williams department store during the past week and has attracted a great deal of attention.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Booby Trap Detector

In the snow, in the sand, on the beaches, on the roads, in the woods, everywhere the Axis soldiers hide "booby traps," to slow the movement of oncoming fighting men of the United Nations. The detector does the same work on land as the mine sweeper does at sea.

Like buying War Bonds, the soldier operating the detectors will never know just how much they have aided in the success of their campaign, but he knows his work is necessary and must be accomplished. If more Americans on the home front will come to realize this, the success of our War Bond campaigns will be assured.

Your Place In Peace

By Rufus T. Strohm
Dean, International Correspondence Schools

THE war has revolutionized industry. In the first place, the life-and-death urgency of war production has developed new methods and new products that will one day be turned to the uses of daily life in a new world of peace.

Rufus T. Strohm

In the second place, it has thrust countless men and women into new jobs. This experience has taught thousands how to master new trades and new techniques, proved to them that they are never too old to learn and, most important of all, given them the study habit. They have turned a part of the scant spare time of war days to study that would help them do more and better work for victory.

—Discovering incidentally that their own jobs are the best sort of laboratory for demonstration of principles set forth in the training courses they follow. And that habit is of more value to them than the dollars they have earned.

Education of this kind is the key to the door of opportunity in the post-war world. Many workers have been trained in some single process of war industry, but to make use of that training after the war, they must have a broader and more thorough knowledge of their whole craft. Others, who were skilled before the war, will not be skilled after, unless they bring themselves abreast of the technical advances of these few years.

There is nothing new in the notion that successful men are those who, habitually, all their lives long, keep studying and planning for bigger jobs, more important ventures. What is new is that the war has taught the value of such study to great numbers who never gave it a thought before and that the peace will force it upon thousands more.

The study habit does not mean the mere satisfying of an idle curiosity about scientific progress. It means a down-to-earth, purposeful, realistic pursuit of a definite plan to develop knowledge and skill for practical use.

If you have already formed this study habit, you will find your place when peace comes. Men like you will be needed.

If you have not, then it's time to begin before you wake up to find yourself a man of yesterday in the world of tomorrow.

Elaine Schultz of Salem, Long Ill., Dies

Miss Elaine Schultz, 25, of Salem, died Friday in Tucson, Ariz., where she had gone in the hope of recuperating from a long illness. She had been believed to be well on the way to recovery when she succumbed suddenly to a heart ailment.

She was born in Salem on June 14, 1918, and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Schultz. Educated in the public schools at Salem, she later attended Antioch Township High school.

On her graduation at Antioch, she registered at the Milwaukee County Hospital School of Nursing, from which she was graduated in 1940. For the past two years she had been living in Tucson, but due to her apparent recovery, had been making plans to return here some time in the near future when she was suddenly stricken with a heart attack.

She is survived by her parents, one brother, Jack, and a sister, Arbutus. Funeral services were held this afternoon from the Salem Methodist church, with the Rev. George R. Cady, D. D., of Kenosha, whose daughter, Sydney, was a school-mate of Miss Schultz at Milwaukee, officiating. Burial was in the family plot at the Liberty Corners cemetery.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Nazi Production Suffers New Blows As Allies Step Up Bombing Attacks; Russian Army's Westward Offensive Threat to All of German Strongholds

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

EUROPE:

Soften Fortress

Looking up into the gathering dusk or the early dawn, residents of England's southeast coast no longer crane their necks in wonder as Allied bombers fill the sky on their way to blast Hitler's European fortress.

With deadly monotony, Allied bombers are making the run over the continent. With Germany's Ruhr smoking in ruins, RAF light and heavy bombers shifted the weight of their attacks to Berlin, and during U. S. Flying Fortresses stabbed ever deeper into Europe to strike at the famous Messerschmitt aircraft plants near Vienna and Regensburg. Meanwhile the Germans claimed that North African ports are filled with Allied vessels concentrating for a full scale invasion of Italy or France.

With all Europe in a pother over the expected invasion, Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain told the world that when the Allies open a second front, it will be only after military circumstances dictate, and not for political purposes.

KINGS:

One Prisoner

Striking with characteristic swiftness, German troops moved in force into Denmark and made that model Nazi protectorate a military province.

Reportedly interned in Copenhagen was King Christian X. Under arrest was former Premier Erik Scavenius and members of his cabinet.

Throughout the entire day state martial law was in force, with public assemblies forbidden, a curfew imposed, and all judicial and civil functions in the hands of Nazis.

Apparent cause for Hitler's sudden decision to take over Denmark was the recent wave of sabotage imperiling production and communication.

Possible cause for the move was Hitler's desire to seal off the most direct route to Berlin from the North sea.

One Dead

Tough, wily King Boris of Bulgaria died with his boots off. At 49, the Balkan monarch reportedly succumbed of heart trouble in his royal suite, after three brain attempts on his life during his 25-year reign. Once, a bomb missed him; another time, a bullet grazed his mustache but killed his chauffeur, and then two days after that, an explosion rocked the cathedral in which the king was worshipping, killing 125 and injuring 200.

As an ally of Germany in the present war, Boris had played his cards shrewdly. Through Hitler's graces, Bulgaria had taken over parts of western and northern Greece, and chunks of Yugoslavia and Romania.

Upon Boris' death, his six-year-old son, Simeon, was proclaimed king and a group organized to govern for him.

RUSSIA:

Still Rolling

One hundred and eighty miles to their rear the lazy Dnieper river wound, and to its banks German troops were prepared to fall back for a last ditch defense against the rolling attack of the Russians.

Having pushed forward north of the Azov seaport of Taganrog, the Russians threatened Nazi troops entrenched in the area. Facing encirclement from the rear, the Germans picked up their stakes and pulled out of the district, even as horse-mounted Cossack cavalry and mechanized units were knifing from the northwestward.

On the Kharkov front, Russian troops bore down on the Germans' last main railroad line running through the northern Donetz basin. Near Smolensk, the Reds plowed through for short gains.

GENERALS:

Marshall Stays

GENERAL: Gen. George C. Marshall will continue as chief of staff of the U. S. army, although his four-year term has expired, President Roosevelt announced. General Marshall is first chief of staff to be granted an extension during war time, and the second in history, the first being General MacArthur, whose term was prolonged, now commanding in the South Pacific, in 1933.

PRODUCTION:

Up in U. S.

Backing up its fighting men on the world's fronts, America's production army gave the wheel an extra nudge with its shoulder to show an increase in output for July.

As the "arsenal of democracy," America's production of war materials for July was almost five times as great as November, 1941. But while production in ships, artillery, motor vehicles and food and clothing, etc., has apparently reached its peak, output of airplanes, army ammunition and signal equipment must be speeded up to meet 1943 goals.

U. S. artillery production steady

According to War Production Board Chairman Donald Nelson, airplane manufacture has failed to reach its highest level because of changes in design and labor shortages. In aluminum and magnesium, production problems have been overcome, Nelson said, and efforts are being made to discover additional uses for magnesium.

Britain Keeps Pace

Keeping step with its Big Brother Sam, Great Britain increased munitions output in the second quarter of 1943 by 25 per cent over that for the same period last year.

Although change in designs of British aircraft resulted in temporary slowdowns, production of planes by weight rose 44 per cent in 1943 over last year. Further expansion of the industry in the next 12 months is planned.

British spitfire output up

At the start of the year, Great Britain overhauled its entire war production program, concentrating on munitions deemed most destructive to the enemy. Because of the readjustment, 75,000 workers were shifted to other industries. But the availability of additional material and help because of the cuts in other lines, enabled the more important industries to increase total output.

HOME FRONT:

Butter Assured

To assure civilians of a steady flow of butter, the War Food administration announced it would cut its government purchases by 10 per cent in September and cancel them altogether in October.

Under the WFA program, civilians have been allotted 80 per cent of the estimated butter supply for the fiscal year ending next June 30. In order to obtain its 20 per cent of the total without seriously disrupting civilian stocks, the WFA buys heavily during periods of high production, then lowers its sights with seasonal drops.

Hits Rent Fixing

Stating that the OPA's action in designating the entire United States as a defense area in order to establish rent ceilings was never intended by congress or empowered by the Constitution, Federal Judge Bascom S. Deaver of Georgia declared the rental provisions of the price control act of 1942 unconstitutional.

In announcing his decision, Judge Deaver remarked that various government bureaus were seeking to impose rule of regulation in place of one of law, in contradiction of the principles of the Constitution. Although the judge said rent control was desirable in time of war, he argued the right of fixing prices was a duty of congress.

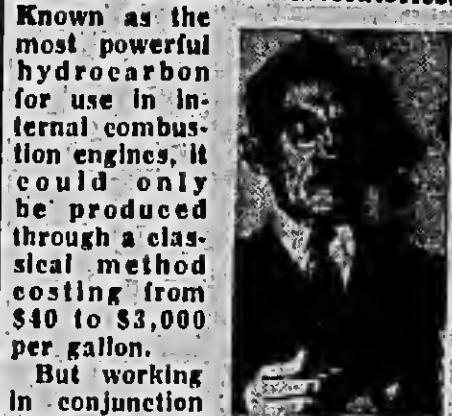

POPULATION:

States Show Loss

Seven midwestern states have lost 8 per cent of their population up to May of this year, through migration to war factory centers and enlistment in the armed services, the National Industrial Conference board reports. For the nation as a whole, the net loss to the civilian population, resulting from growth of the army and navy, has been 2.4 per cent from April, 1919, to May, 1943, it was said.

Super-Gas

For years, triptane has stood on the shelves of laboratories. Known as the most powerful hydrocarbon for use in internal combustion engines, it could only be produced through a classical method costing from $40 to $3,000 per gallon.

Dr. Gustav Egloff

But working in conjunction with a staff headed by Dr. Gustav Egloff, an old officer of the Russian Imperial army, Vladimir Ipatieff, and his 28-year-old pupil, Vladimir Haensel, have discovered a method for producing triptane at less than $1 a gallon.

According to Dr. Egloff, the new gasoline will increase the speed and range of American war planes 25 per cent, and boost their climbing power 20 per cent. Such performance would give the U. S. planes equal maneuverability with Jap Zeros, without sacrificing their heavier armor and gun placement.

PACIFIC:

Closer and Closer

The great factor of air power loomed larger in the Pacific battle zone, with Japanese strongholds in the southwest receding under concentrated U. S. bombing, and heavy raids predicted on the enemy's homeland from bases acquired in the Aleutian islands.

With Allied and Japanese soldiers locked in close jungle fighting before Salamaua, New Guinea, American bombers roared 350 miles northward to hammer the enemy's air base at Weewak. Since August 17, more than 300 Japanese planes have been destroyed there, thus giving the Allies' front line soldiers relief from air attack and assuring the maximum operation of their supply lines.

Returning from a visit to the Aleutians, Lieut. Gen. John L. DeWitt of the western defense command, said that U. S. planes were closer to Japan now than Maj. Gen. James Donliffe and his fliers were when they took off from the Flat-top Hornet. General DeWitt envisioned heavy bombing flights from Aleutian bases over the enemy's homeland, with the planes flying onward to come down on Chinese airbases.

PRICE CONTROL:

Over the Border

During the 3½ years in which Canada has been in the war, the country's cost of living has increased 17 per cent, in comparison with 25 per cent in the U. S. and 28 per cent in Great Britain.

Up to March 31, 63 per cent of Canada's war expenditure was paid off with taxes. Borrowings from banks amounted to 16 per cent. The rest of the money to pay for the war was raised through the sale of securities to the public.

By December, 1941, the wholesale price of farm products rose 25 per cent, while retail food costs jumped 25 per cent. To check a further rise, subsidies were paid producers, resulting in the maintenance of milk, butter and cheese output.

MINERS:

No Extra Pay

Because the miners are not entitled to pay for underground travel time under the fair labor standards act until the work week exceeds 40 hours, the War Labor board rejected their plea for such pay at $1.25 daily. The miners now work 35 hours.

In the majority opinion written by Chairman William H. Davis, the WLB said that the United Mine Workers had failed to show why such underground travel pay should be granted in the face of the law, and so it concluded that the miners' request was an outright wage increase in violation of the stabilization policy.

Following the WLB's action, the UMW filed suit in the federal court at Birmingham for 2 hours daily underground travel time pay. They also asked five years such back pay.

Given Probation

In the first verdict under the Smith-Connally anti-strike law, 27 miners, charged with striking at government operated pits, were given suspended sentences of six months and put on three years probation.

WACS:

Recruiting Lags

Enlistments in the WAC (Women's Army corps) have been declining, statistics reveal. Only 3,005 women joined in June, 2,415 in July, and 1,720 in the first three weeks of August. Also, a large percentage of the 65,000 members of the WAAC (Women's Auxiliary Army corps) are choosing to withdraw from service rather than be sworn into the Women's Army corps.

THE 3rd WAR LOAN DRIVE STARTS —TO BACK THE INVASION!

What you will be asked to do—

MARK WELL the date—Thursday, September 9th. For on that day, you must answer to your country's call.

On that day, the 3rd War Loan Drive opens. To you—and to every other true American—a clarion call goes forth to rally to the support of our flag.

You will be asked to back our fighting forces to the very limit of your resources. You will be asked to go ALL-OUT FOR INVASION by investing in EXTRA War Bonds—more War Bonds than you perhaps think you can possibly afford.

To meet the national quota, every individual in the country who earns a wage or draws an income or has accumulated funds must invest, if he possibly can, in at least one EXTRA $100 War Bond. Those who can, must invest more—thousands of dollars' worth more. Each and every one must do his full part.

Scrape up the money from every source you can... turn in all the loose cash you carry with you... dig out what you had tucked away "just in case." Go without pleasures, luxuries, even necessities this September. And give our fighting men the things they need to fight with—and win.

These men are throwing everything they have into this fierce invasion push. They are giving their blood, their lives. No one can put a price on such courage, self-sacrifice, devotion. But you can show you're with them to the limit! You can say it with Bonds... EXTRA Bonds this month.

World's Safest Investments

For this 3rd War Loan, you will be offered your choice of various government securities. Choose the one that fits your requirements.

United States War Savings Bonds Series "E" gives you back $4 for every $3 when the bond matures. Interest: 2.9% a year, compounded semi-annually, if held to maturity. Denominations: $25, $50, $100, $500, $1,000. Redemption: Anytime 60 days after issue date. Price: 75% of maturity value.

2½% Treasury Bonds of 1964-1969; readily marketable, acceptable as bank collateral. Redeemable at par and accrued interest for the purpose of satisfying Federal estate taxes. Dated September 15, 1943; due December 15, 1969. Denominations: $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $100,000 and $1,000,000. Price: par and accrued interest.

Overnight autumn has come to the lakes, along with some of the goldenest wild sunflowers we ever did see. And what with the slight coolness in the air, and the children going back to school and everything, we sorta have the feeling that summer is over, even though it isn't officially, for a couple of weeks yet. If there is any month that is nicer than September around the lakes, we'd like to know what it is. We'll betcha if James Russell Lowell was here in Sept., he'd re-write part of his "Vision of Sir Launfal." We mean those lines where he says, "What is so rare as a day in June? Then, if ever, come perfect days."

September brings with it to the lakes region those deep blue skies, nights cool enough for sleeping under a blanket, and a lift and zest that make a pleasure out of the ordinary business of living. A curious peace, that has nothing to do with the number of people around or the departure of vacationists, settles down over the lakes and hillsides. It isn't exactly autumn, with its flaring colors and smoky haze, but it's sort of autumn's forerunner, when summer isn't quite over yet, and autumn hasn't quite started.

Combines the best features of both seasons, to our way of thinking.

We hope we aren't stepping on someone's toes or infringing on anyone's copyright, but we saw a little story in W. A. S. Douglas' column

What You Buy With WAR BONDS
Powder Monkey

On board ship and in the artillery their buddies call them "powder monkeys." Not disrespectful, just a personal, intimate term between friends. Cynics call them gun crews. During a battle the crews of "powder monkeys" must work like trojans bringing the ammunition to the guns.

The gun may fire an anti aircraft .50 calibre shell or a broadside from the 16 inch mops of a great battleship, but in either event the "powder monkey" must pass millions of dollars' worth of ammunition to make the gun effective, and your savings in War Bonds are necessary to supply the financial ammunition that provides the shells.

U. S. Treasury Department

"On the Sun Beam" (Chicago Sun) that struck us as a peculiarly poignant reminder of thing lots of folks have been forgetting in the rush, hurry and strain of these times, when we sometimes forget to be kind.

"The push-and shove (in Los Angeles) is as bad in the restaurants as in the stores; particularly in the cafeterias . . . the waiting lines are frequently two blocks long. And into one of these feverish lines, the other day, walked Paul Hoya, 72 years old, blind, father of a man serving in North Africa, and with money in his pocket. Old Paul had been used to eating in cafeterias and had been used to a trifle of help from those in front of him, those behind him, and from the girls at the steam tables.

"Of late old Paul had noted that people hustled around him more than they did, that they were not as considerate of him and his simple wants as they had been; but he put this down to the war and tried to take it in his stride, or what is nearest to stride for a blind man who tries to bother more fortunate people just as little as he can. His son was having a rough time on the war front, the people right here were having a rough time getting things and he would try to carry what might be called a blind man's share of a general rough time.

"So Paul laborously worked his way up the line into the cafeteria, being greatly jostled and passed over by a number of pushers-and-shovers who thought that as long as he couldn't see he couldn't remonstrate over his place in the line being jumped. And so he came at last to the counter and asked, as was his wont, what there was on the bill of fare today. Sometimes folks in front would answer for him if the waitresses were extra-busy and sometimes folks behind would read off the items. But this sort of help had been getting less and less and old Paul had got the habit of tables to the girls who were paid to ask into space across the steam give out such information. He said to him and he said:

"What have you got today?"

"And the girl answered:
"We can't serve blind men here, We haven't the time."

"Now you would have thought that someone behind or in front of old Paul would have objected to that sort of answer, would have helped the blind man get his meal together. But nobody did, not a soul. They went on about their picking and choosing, on their eyes, as always, larger than their stomachs, and ignored him entirely. So he turned around and fumbled his way to his little apartment a few blocks away where he and his soldier son had lived together before the latter had volunteered for war, feeling sure that folks would watch out for his dad in places like restaurants and street corners; little enough to expect for a soldier's blind father.

"In his apartment old Paul Hoya found a length of rope which had been used for a trunk long ago and with it he hanged himself in a closet filled with his son's civilian clothes—clothes which the old man used to brush daily so they would be in good shape when the soldier came home from the war."

There isn't much that a person can add to that little story, except to say that it doesn't cost much more or take much more time to be decent to people—and sometimes it means a lot to them.
